Authorizing cities, towns and boroughs within whose corporate limits, railroads operated by steam power terminate or pass, to provide by ordinance or resolutions of Councils, or by contract with companies, for the safety or comfort of citizens and the traveling public, and for an increase of facilities for transacting business on said roads.

By Mr. TURNER, regulating the sale of patent medicines, which requires city and county licenses and fixes the compensation to the State.

By Mr. WHITE, promoting industrial partnerships, which provides that employees may, by agreement, have shares in business not subject to debts or loss and not entitled to vote.

By Mr. PETRIKEN, authorizing suits against insurance companies to be brought in any county.

Fruitless efforts were made to extend the time and get up the private calendar.

Adjourned till afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion of Mr. BUCKALEW the Senate resolved hereafter to meet at half-past ten A. M.

The bill extending the Anthracite mining act to the Bituminous regions came up again on the third reading.

Motions were made to strike out Venango, Warren, Allegheny, Bedford and Westmoreland.

Messrs. PETRIKEN, WHITE and WALLACE opposed the amendments as defeating the object of the bill.

Mr. BRODHEAD said the only effect of the bill was to take fifteen thousand dollars out of the State Treasury for nothing.

Messrs. GRAHAM, ANDERSON, ALLEN and others opposed the bill as inapplicable to the bituminous regions.

The amendments passed and the bill was defeated by a tie vote.

HOUSE.

NEW BILLS.

Mr. BOILEAU (Democrat) introduced a resolution allowing the introduction of new bills.

Mr. STRANG (Republican) moved an amendment adding, "and that the House will not consider any private bills during this session unless introduced before next Tuesday." Adopted.

Mr. CHALFONT (Democrat) moved a further amendment prohibiting the consideration of public bills unless already introduced. Lost.

Mr. LEONARD (Democrat) moved an amendment prohibiting the introduction of public bills after Tuesday. Agreed to—yeas 52, nays 34.

The resolution with all amendments was then voted down; yeas thirty-two, nays fifty-four.

THE DEAD LOCK.

Mr. JOHNSON, (Republican,) offered the following—WHEREAS, The House has passed the Appropriation bill three weeks ago, as well as other public bills, all of which have been in the Senate for an unusual length of time without any action, without even a meeting of the Committee to which the Appropriation bill was referred, and further the House has passed nearly a thousand private bills on which the Senate has refused or neglected to take any action,

Resolved, That this House being a concurrent branch of the Legislature, now declares that it will pass no private bills until the Senate proceeds to the consideration of the bills now before that body, and that the clerk of the House be instructed to notify the Senate that the House will be ready to adjourn sine die at any time after the 21st day of April next.

This resolution required two-thirds to suspend the orders, and consequently fell.

POSTPONED.

The bill for a State Geological Survey was indefinitely postponed by a vote of fifty-seven to thirty-four.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After an hour spent in ineffectual and dilatory motions the House bills for the inspection of all spirits in Pennsylvania whether distilled here or not, and amending the corporation tax law by exempting building and loan associations were passed.

HARRISBURG, April 13.—10 P. M.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS—NO NEW BILLS TO BE ACTED ON AFTER MONDAY.

A full caucus of the Republican party has just been held. Although it was with closed doors, enough has been gathered to show that no new bills will be acted upon after next Monday. This decisive action will be the begining of the end.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 13, 1871.

The VICE PRESIDENT has appointed Messrs. Wilson and Carpenter as visitors to West Point.

Mr. WILSON, at his own request, was excused from serving on the Southern outrage investigation.

Mr. ROBERTSON gave notice that he would ask for a vote on an amendment to the order of business to permit action on the General Amnesty bill as soon as the Ku-Klux bill was disposed of.

The Ku-Klux bill was then proceeded with, and Mr. THURMAN took the floor in a lengthy argument against the centralization tendencies of the bill.

In a critical examination of the defects of the bill, he reviewed first the substitution of Federal for State Courts, to the disparagement of the latter. He declared his confidence in the justice and impartiality of the Judiciary in his own State. He was unwilling to say to the people of Ohio that Congress distrusted the Judges of the State Courts. As to the second section, he could approve of some parts of it, while other parts were highly objectionable. Its allegations of conspiracy were vague. What was meant in the language of the bill by "priviliges and immunities of citizens of the United States," or "depriving the citizens of due and equal protection of the law?" To constitute a conspiracy, it was not necessary that a combination should do any overt act at all. The combination made offence in the intent to be attributed to persons thus combining which was not defined, and the utmost discretion in proving indictments, as to this intent was placed in the hands of district attorneys, ignorant of the law, of whom there were many in the South where the judges were but little better, the government taking such as it could get, and while the grand juries were probably two-thirds illiterate negros. The provisions of the bill in regard to a conspiracy against a United States officer while discharging his duties had been amended by the Judiciary Committee by adding the words, "or while engaged in the discharge of his duties." By this any person trespassing upon property in Illinois of the Federal officer engaged in Washington, would be liable to all the penalties of the bill. The whole undertaking to punish offences against the State laws through the machinery of the Federal government, was plainly unconstitutional. As an instance of the monstrosity of the pains and penalties of the bill, Mr. Thurman said that if Mr. Sumner's supplementary civil rights bill should pass, then, under this section, the proprietors of the Arlington or any other hotel would be liable to a fine of $500 and six months' imprisonment for assigning white and colored guests to seperate tables, or failing to provide for both at the same tables. The same held good as to every proprietor of a public conveyance or place of public amusement. On the other hand, a few darkies, for robbing a hen roost or plundering a pig pen of a white man, would suffer the same penalties for having infringed upon the immunities and privileges of the American citizen. These sections might give rise to vexatious and harrassing prosecutions, but their severity would practically make them dead letters. The essence of the measure was in the third and fourth sections which vested the President of the United States with a power now only wielded by the Sultan of Turkey and Czar of Russia. He could at will declare war against the people of any state and suspend the writ of habeas corpus there. This power of suspension was a legislative power, and could not be delegated to the President. Its unreserved surrender to the President was most dangerous to the liberty of the country. The question now was whether we are to have but one star instead of thirty-seven on our flag; whether the state governments were to be obliterated and with them our whole system of free governments.

On motion of Mr. TRUMBULL, the Secretary of the Interior was directed to furnish a statement of the population of the United States, giving the representative and total population of each State separately, as ascertained by the census

Mr. BOREMAN spoke at length in vindication of reconstruction measures. He attributed Southern hostility to the Government and the disorders in the South to the effect of Northern Democratic opinion and example.

Mr. SUMNER asserted the right and duty of national protection where life, liberty or property of the citizens were imperilled. That fearful outrages had been perpetrated in the South could not be denied, and the power of Congress was ample. No cry of centralism or imperialism could deter him. He was for centralism of liberty and imperialism of equal rights.

Mr. THURMAN inquired whether Senator Sumner intended to vote for the bill.

Mr. SUMNER replied that he did.

Mr. THURMAN said that the President had only recently been arraigned, and in his judgment justly arraigned by the Senator from Massachusetts, (Sumner) for usurping war power against the black people of Hayti, but that Senator now seemed to be wholly insensible when a bill proposed to confer upon the President the power to make war upon the white people of America.

The first of the pending amendments being a mere verbal improvement of phraseology to the bill was then voted upon.

Mr. TRUMBULL called for ayes and nays to test whether the Senate was disposed to amend the bill in any shape.

The amendment was agreed to ayes 41, nays 7. At 5:30 it was arranged by unanimous assent to hold an evening session for debate on the bill and that the measure shall be disposed of finally to-morrow, the session to commence at 10 a. m. and Mr. Edmunds in charge of the bill to be assigned the floor to close debate at 1 P. M.

A recess was then taken until half past 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

At the evening session speeches were delivered by Mr. OSBORNE in advocacy of the bill, and Mr. SAWYER in denial of the charge of Blair that the failure of reconstruction was owing to maladministration of southern officials. He charged the responsibility of Ku-Klux disorders upon the northern Democracy, by whom the southern people had been misled to hostility to reconstruction.

Mr. NYE presented a communication from Judge Logan, North Carolina, saying he was unable to hold a court for fear of the Ku-Klux, and asking for troops to protect him in the discharge of his official duties. Also the statements of a large number of white and colored victims of recent whippings and scourging in Cleveland and adjoining counties of that State, by men wearing masks. He (Nye) believed the condition of things shown constituted a state of civil war. These counties were in insurrection to-day, and under terror of the lash were defying the State and nation. Were Senators content to cavil over constitutional points so fine that they could scarcely see them themselves, while these wails of woe came up from every breeze.

Mr. BLAIR said he did not want Senator Nye to shed all his tears over North Carolina, but to look at home. He asked for the reading of the proceedings of the Vigilance Committee in Virginia City, Nevada, and the various outrages of recent occurrence in that State.

Mr. STEWART remarked that the Vigilants of the Pacific coast, unlike the Ku-Klux of the South, had never taken life for political reasons.

Mr. BLAIR quoted from the Territorial Enterprise, a Republican paper of Nevada, to the extent that within the last ten years two hundred murders had been committed in one county of the State, for which two lives had been exacted as forfeit, one by law and one by violence.

Mr. STEWART replied briefly in defence of his State.

Mr. WILSON said the old leaven of slavery was working in the South, and years would be required to eradicate it. In the period previous to Lee's surrender, during which the old rebels had control of the South, outrages and murders were much more general than now. The effort then had been to establish a serfdom in place of slavery.

Mr. SHERMAN gave notice of an amendment to assess the damages arising from the destruction of private property by riotous or tumultuous assemblages upon the localities in which they are committed.

Messrs. VICKERS and BLAIR then delivered speeches against the bill.

The attendance of members during the evening was very meagre and at twelve o'clock, at which hour Mr. BLAIR still occupied the floor, there were not more than twelve Senators present.

HOUSE.

Mr. BARNUM, member elect from Connecticut, appeared and took the oath.

The bill introduced yesterday by Mr. PARKER, authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at or near St. Joseph was taken up, discussed, amended and passed.

Mr. HOLMAN presented a communication from the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington, asking use of the hall of the House of Representatives for two public meetings—a general meeting of the convention of delegates from similar associations throughout the United States to be held on the 24th of May next, and asked unanimous consent to submit the motion to that effect.

Ms. WILLIARD objected.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the Senate amendments to the deficiency bills, the question being on the amendment repealing the law which requires the meeting of each new Congress on the 4th of March.

Mr. MYERS offered an amendment providing that the repeal shall not take effect until after the expiration of the Forty-third Congress.

Mr. COBURN argued against the repeal of the law. He hoped to see the day when men would cease to talk about coordinate branches of government, as there was but one great power in the country, and that was the people, whose views were expressed through Congress.

Mr. GARFIELD attributed the proposed repeal to a desire of the Senate to be left alone to exercise the great powers which it was allowed and had extended within the last few years, but he could not understand why the House should consent to ignore its own existence.

Mr. BANKS argued in favor of repeal and Mr. HOAR against.

Mr. COX spoke in favor of repeal and said that Congress did not do anything for the purpose of reducing taxation or reviving trade. The trade of the country was crippled and even the bonds of the government were falling in the market.

Mr. LYNCH asked Mr. Cox whether the last Congress had not reduced taxation $180,000,000, and whether he (Cox) had not voted against that.

Mr. COX replied the reduction was only eighty millions, and that it was a sham, as it discriminated improperly against consumers.

Mr. SCOFIELD favored a repeal of the law, and argued that the real question was whether it was better for Congress to meet at the commencement of the warm or cold weather.

Mr. BINGHAM replied to some of the arguments in favor of repeal.

Mr. DAWES, speaking in favor of repeal, said that the present session was a mistake, and that they should have more to repent of than to boast of. If anything had occurred within the last few days to make the people forgive Congress for its dissensions and wranglings, and for the deep wounds inflicted on the Republican party in the other end of the Capitol, the more dangerous because they were bleeding internally, it was that moderate counsels had found their utterance in legislation rather than extreme measures. It was only that moderation that saved the present session of Congress from being an unmitigated evil in the judgment of the people.

Mr. BUTLER, Mass., replying to Mr. Dawes' remarks about moderate counsels having prevailed, said that that gentleman had got the measures a little differently worded from those which be proposed, but that they were not a bit more moderate.

The debate having closed, Leonard Myers withdrew his amendment.

Mr. LYNCH moved the repeal should not go into effect until after the Forty-fourth Congress, which was rejected by 66 to 89.

The Senate amendment repealing the law was then concurred in—99 to 98.

The Speaker having hesitated some seconds in announcing that the ayes had it, explained that his hesitation was as to whether he should exercise the right which he had of voting and producing a tie, but after consideration he declined to exercise the right.

The Senate amendment appropriating $30,000 for expenses of the Joint Select Committee on outrages in the Southern States, was concurred in.

The Senate amendment appropriating $30,000 for a branch mint at Carson city was concurred in.

The Senate amendment appropriating $270,000 for the subsistence of the Arapahoes and other Indians was concurred in, with an amendment reducing the amount to $200,000.

The Senate amendment appropriating $200,000 for the more effectual securing of life and property on the coast of New Jersey, was concurred in, with an amendment to make it applicable also to Long Island coast.

The Senate amendment appropriating $6,856 for the completion of the court house and post office building at Des Moines, Iowa, was concurred in.

Without disposing of all the amendments, the House at 4:10 adjourned.

Mr. Ingalls has disposed of his stock and resigned the Presidency in view of the recent decision of Judge Cox unfavorable to his continuance as receiver so long as he held an interest as stockholder. He will consequently continue his connection with the roads as receiver.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN GOLD AND TREASURY NOTES.

Judge Thordock, of the Common Pleas, rendered his decision to-day in the case of Clark vs. Johnson, in an action to recover the difference in value between gold and treasury notes in May 1st, 1863, on a note for two thousand dollars, made in 1859, and paid May, 1863, in treasury notes. The payment was received without objection and the note given up. The Judge held that the delivery of the note and acceptance of United States notes without objection, did not prevent the plaintiff from bringing suit, and that payment in United States notes was not an extinguishment of the debt except to the amounts of gold value of the notes at the time. Judgment was given for the plaintiff in specie for the difference, with interest in the gold case, which will go to the District Court, which convenes next week.

COMMUNIST FALSEHOODS.

It is now officially announced that the alleged Communist victories are entirely without foundation. No engagement took place Tuesday and Wednesday. There was merely insurgent fusilade followed by cannonade. There has been no engagement this morning. All the roads leading to Paris are occupied by the Versailles troops.

WASHINGTON, April 13 1871.

THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION—TROUBLE OVER THE SAN JUAN BOUNDARY.

The trouble in the Joint High Commission over the San Juan boundary question has not yet been decided, and the Commissioners on the part of the two Governments are no nearer an agreement than they were a fortnight ago By the provisions of the treaty of 1853, fixing the boundary line between the United States and British America from the Rocky mountains to the Pacific ocean, it was stipulated that the line through Paget's Sound should be in the center of the channel. Around the Island of San Jaun there are two channels, through both of which vessels can pass. The United States claim however, that the surveys, soundings, &c., show that the northeren one is the main channel, while the British Government insists that the southern is the one referred to in the treaty. All admit that the Island is not worth having, and that neither Government cares for it, but because it is the subject in which the pride of both Governments has been enlisted, neither is willing to recede, the only significance of the contest is the principle involved. From the present indications no agreement on the question will be arrived at.

NOMINATIONS.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day, to be members of the Legislative Assembly of District of Columbia for one year: D. L. Eaton, J. A. Gray, A. K. Brown, G. Z. Gallick and Samuel Cross and the following for the term of two years: Frederick Douglass, Adolphus Hall, C. F. Peck, N. H. Miller, Wm. Stickney and David Smith. Collector of Internal Revenue Towsend Nult, Sixth District, Michigan; G. L. Smith, Eighth District Michigan Postmasters.—McPherson, Clyde, Ohio; E. Y. Smith, Gallion, Ohio; H. R. Cowles, Washington, Iowa; Jas. Davidson, Monticello, Iowa; S. H. Shoemaker, Dewitt, Iowa; E. R. Brown, Elmwood, Ills.; A. C. Paxton, Lockport, Ills.; D. D. Bingham, Lansing, Mich.; W. H. Clute, Three Rivers, Mich.; H. L. Robinson, Washington C. H. Ohio; F. H. Swift, Detroit, Mich.; Jas. Goodspeed, Joliet, Ills.; J. B. Cunningham, Hayes City, Kansas; W. C. Snyder, Fulton, Ills.; Chas. Southerd, Morris, Ills.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis for the past twenty-four hours. The area of low pressure has moved eastward into the eastern States and New York. The pressure has steadily diminished over the country east of the Rocky mountains and is now very low in Iowa and in the lower Mississippi Valley with very general cloudiness. Westerly winds have prevailed on the Lakes, but easterly winds are now reported in the Mississippi Valley.

Probabilities—It is probable that cloudy weather will on Friday, very generally prevail, with light rains at a few points in the south and southwest. Easterly winds on Lake Michigan and northeasterly on Lake Superior.

CHICAGO.

Identified.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The gentleman and lady killed yesterday at South Park station by being run over by the Kalamazoo train on the Michigan Central Railroad, have been identified as Edwin Marston, foreman of the Prohibitionist Office, in this city, and his wife, Jenny Marston. The couple had crossed the track for the purpose of getting aboard the Hyde Park train which was about to start. At this moment the Kalamazoo train approached at a high rate of speed. Mr. and Mrs. Marston, supposing there was no danger, maintained their position beside the other train, but as the engine passed, the long dress of the lady was drawn by the current under the wheels of the locomotive, and she was almost instantly drawn under the fast flying train. At the same instant her husband seized her with intent to rescue her. The attempt not only failed, but Mr. Marsten was also drawn under the wheels and both were crushed to death. The couple had gone to Hyde Park for the purpose of purchasing a lot whereon to build a home. Mr. Marston was about thirty years of age, his wife twenty-seven, and had only been married about five months; both were highly respected. The coroner's verdict to-day exonerated the road from blame.

REQUISITION FOR A MURDERER.

A requisition has been made by the Governor of Texas on the Governor of Illinois for the delivery of Stephen Ballou, who is charged with the murder of James Golden in Collin county, Texas, about one year since. Ballou is now in jail at Quincy. The evidence against him is strong.

MILWAUKEE.

Fears of an Indian Raid.

MILWAUKEE, April 13.—Late Minnesota papers say fears are entertained of another Indian raid at Leech Lake by the Pillage Indians. The contemplated movements will be made after sugar making is over. Every precaution is being taken to avert the impending danger.

GENERALITIES.

NEW YORK has had a fatal case of sunstroke.

"THE Woes of the Well-to-do," is the title of an article in the London Spectator.

MORE than 50,000 German ladies have signed the pledge of the Anti-Chignon Society.

THE TWO HEADED NIGHTINGALE sails for Europe on the "City of Brussels" the 22d instant.

LOUISVILLE wants to have the National Democratic Nominating Convention meet there in 1872.

NILSSON cleared $120,000 on her one hundred American concerts, while Strackosh cleared $20,000.

THAT objectionable and immoral person, Ouida, has written another novel and called it Follie Farina.

MAZZINI wishes to die in Italy. A great many people will give their consent if he will but make haste.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY is about to be married. She always said before that she did not like to be associated with idiots.

A PATTERSON servant girl tried to melt the bullet out of a metallic cartridge to solder up her boiler. Thirty-five carriages followed the hearse.

TILTON has taken to praising Halstead. Halstead's sins have doubtless been very great, but he had not heretofore thought him beyond the reach of mercy.

THE German Press, particularly the organs of Bismarck, are very bitter against England. The first thing we know the German army will be bivouacking in Hyde Park.

"How much did he leave?" inquired a gentleman of a wag on learning the death of a wealthy citizen. "Everything," responded the wag; "he didn't take a dollar with him."

BRIGHAM YOUNG has ordered daily prayers against the grasshoppers this summer. The false account of his death was probably got up by some one who wishes to marry Mrs. Young.

CHAS. MATTHEWS, the great English commedian, is acting in New York. He is said to be as consummate an actor and to appear quite as young on the stage as he did when he first visited the country 33 years ago.

THE Boston Post quotes all of the Louisville Courier-Journal's jokes in the "All Sorts" column, but only credits the poor ones. It has never been reproved for this, for the times that it did not give any credit may have been merely an oversight.

A PACKAGE of Chinese tea seed has recently been received from North Carolina by the Commissioner of Agriculture at Washington. These seeds, it is stated, are from China, and sent several years ago to North Carolina. The plants seem to have proved sufficiently hardy to resist the changes of climate in the Carolinas.

GEN. LONGSTREET recently accepted an invitation to a seat within the bar of the House of Representatives of Mississippi. This little act has moved one of the "Democratic" papers of that State to exclaim: "Who could have thought that a man can so prostitute himself? It leaves a dark spot on that glorious Confederate flag under whose folds he marched."

THE Montgomery (Ala.) Mail says that the known opposition to the heresy of negro suffrage on the part of the Northern Democracy was the strongest ligament that bound the South to that organization, and that it feels it to be its duty to warn the leaders of that party everywhere against the danger they will incur by cutting that ligament in twain.

THE late editor of the London Observer, who recently died in his 99th year, is said to have been the oldest journalist in the world, having been an active member of the profession for over 60 years. There are, however, plenty of men in the profession in this country who will have been more than 60 years in the profession, if they stick to it until they are 99 years of age.

A COMMUNICATION in a Charleston paper, signed "One hundred men who fought under Lee," says: "If the people of the North are prepared to destroy their commerce, their finance, their trade, and expend their blood to sustain these thieves and scoundrels in oppressing their fellow citizens of the South, by the gods of war they shall have a chance of it!"

BY the removal of the duty on all wools and woolens the government would lose $24,000,000 of revenue, now paid by the wealthy importers, and which would have to be otherwise raised. The result would be that the profits of the importers would be increased without any reduction in prices, and that the revenue raised on woolens would have to be laid on some other article of American consumption.

THEODGRE M PAYNE, only son of a wealthy retired merchant of Leeds, went to London a number of years ago, entered upon a career of reckless dissipation, and suddenly disappeared. It was supposed he had either been murdered or committed suicide, but very recently his parents, it is stated, have heard of him as a Greek priest in Archangel. Payne, now in his 43d year, is a graduate of Oxford, and a man of fine mind and attainments.

MR. P. T. BARNUM'S great museum, menagerie and circus has started on its tour. This combination contains eleven adult camels and an infant, four lions, besides yaks, zebras, elephants, gnus, a rhinoceros, etc., etc. There was a giraffe, but it died coming over, and another which has been telegraphed for has not yet arrived. Then there are happy families, giants, dwarfs, bearded women, an armless girl, all sorts of curiosities, and a great circus besides.

FORSYTH, GEORGIA, can claim the champion beat. Finding himself bad off for his regular invigorator, he put a gallon of water in a two gallon demijohn, and presenting himself at the grocery, asked for a gallon of whisky. It was duly enclosed in the demijohn, but of course there was no trust, and the liquor had to be returned. A gallon was poured out, and the beat went on his way rejoicing in the possession of a gallon of good grog. He turned up drunk an hour after.

A BEAUTIFUL specimen of rose-tinted honey was lately contributed by a London firm to the South Kensington Museum. On inquiry, it proved to be the result of an experiment instituted by a lady. Having a swarm of bees in a hive with a glass cover, she noticed that after making two small pieces of comb they ceased the work. She then began to feed them with honey mixed with water highly colored with cochineal, and scented with rose water. The result was thirty-seven pounds of rose-tinted honey.

THE Cheyenne Leader of April 8 says: "We were shown, yesterday, some drawings by Boyer, who is to be hung on the 21st inst. He is quite an artist in that respect, and has made a very creditable portrait of himself suspended from the gallows; the Judge who pronounced the sentence; and the jury which found him guilty of murder. In his picture he gives the lady members of the jury a horrid appearance. Boyer either has no eye for womanly beauty, or else he is opposed to woman's rights."

THE Elizabeth City North Carolinian says: We are satisfied that those of our Northern friends who are postponing immigration here are making a great mistake. Properties of all kinds are gradually advancing, and they will continue to do so. This is a certainty. The turbulence and disorder existing in other sections—hundreds of miles from here—have not and will not extend to this part of the State. Every citizen, be he native or adopted, will find as much security here for life and property, and just as full enjoyment in all his rights, as in Pennsylvania, New York or any other State.

THE fountain designed for the boulevard at New Orleans is finished. It will throw a cascade of water with six feet fall into a broad basin, from which spring twenty more separate jets; this overflows through four large orifices, represented as the mouths of dolphins, pouring into a sub basin of larger size. In the latter reservoir, which is about the hight of a man's waist from the ground, two life size swans, moved by clockwork which runs forty-eight hours, will appear to swim around, and a miniature steamship, which is so arranged as to fire a gun every hour, will also sail around the basin.

ROBERT DIXON, botswain in the United States navy, came from a cruise to Europe, when Mrs. Dixon refused to let him into his own house. He has accumulated $30,000, which has been invested in Mrs. Dixon's name, and he brings suit for the recovery of the property. She charges that in the last sixteen years he has stolen thousands of dollars from the Government, and as he has always treated her well, she says she only makes the charges from a sense of duty. It would have looked just as well if this excellent woman's sense of duty had taken effect before she got $30,000 of the plunder safely in her own hands.

MISS EVANS, who is engaged for a new novel for Blackwood, is a most laborious and painstaking writer, bestowing as much pains upon a single book as ordinary authors do upon six. Her hand, writing illustrates this. It is bold, round, as easy to read as print, and scarcely an erasure is to be met with in the manuscript of a whole volume. This is owing to the fact that she carefully sketches before hand what she intends to write, and then copies it elaborately. The printers keep her manuscript clean, and after the proofs have been corrected it is returned to her. She has the MSS. of all her books bound in red morocco, and they form one of the most interesting features of her library. She sold "Adam Bede" to Blackwood for $1,500; but its success prompted her publishers to present her $7,500 besides. For "Felix Holt" she received the large sum of $30,000.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

[From the Manufacturers' Review.]

HOME ENLARGEMENTS.

W. Douglass & Son commenced work last Monday on the new propeller building for Messrs Brown & Jones. The work will be pressed forward vigorously.

Ahlbarn, Neckermann & Co., have built an addition to the Keystone Axle Works during the past week, and largely increased their capacity.

Wharton Brothers' mill, which resumed operations recently, after an interval of inactivity extending over two years, is in receipt of orders which promise well for the future. The new ore mill put down recently in the establishment works admirably. The mill is running single turn at present.

Kloman, Buerkle & Co., proprietors of the Iron City Tool Works, are making preparations to build a new forge shop adjoining their works. The growth of this establishment has been remarkable. It is but a few months since the concern expended upwards of $10,000 in increasing the capacity of the works, still the shop room is insufficient. The new forge shop will be twenty-four feet front by one hundred deep

The Westinghouse Air Brake Co., in order to keep pace with the demand upon their resources, have been compelled to increase their facilities. An addition is building to the present shop, and various other improvements are making which will largely increase the facilities of the establishment. The present machine shop, or main building, two stories in height, 50 by 60 feet, will be enlarged to 120 feet. The present force of men employed, 113, will be increased to 200. The remarkable success which has attended the introduction of the Air Brake may be inferred from the fact that it has been adopted by twenty-two railway companies, and is now in operation on three hundred and seventy-three locomotives and one thousand two hundred and seventy cars, a pretty good showing for one year.

OTHER PLACES.

Ten thousand shoemakers in Baltimore complain of the scarcity of work.

The manufacture of linen last year in Ireland was greater than ever before, and prices, it is thought, will somewhat decline.

The Harrisburg car shops have just completed 200 grain cars for New York, 160 gondolas for the Allegheny Valley, and have received a contract from the New York and Erie Railroad for 200 oil cars. Four hundred men are employed, who receive an annual salary of $250,000.

A patent for a nail machine has been awarded to Henry Reese, of Baltimore. His invention consists in an arrangement of quadrant blocks and operating gear, whereby a heated rod introduced into transverse grooves between the blocks is reduced to a headless nail, and cut off by the blocks, which move in opposite directions. The head of the nail is formed by a subsequent operation.

H. J. King and D. C. Mulock, of Middletown, New York, have secured a patent for a steam and water engine. This invention relates to several improvements in the construction of the valve gear and other working mechanism of steam and water engines, and consists in a novel construction of valve, cut-off, piston, cross head, and valve gear, all arranged with an object of simplifying the construction of the machinery and avoiding friction.

Public notice is hereby given that books will be opened on the sixth day of March next, in this country and in Europe, for subscriptions to the National Loan, under the Act approved July 14, 1870, entitled "An Act to authorize the Refunding of the National Debt," and the Act in amendment thereof, approved January 20, 1871.

The proposed loan comprises three classes of Bonds, namely:

First—Bonds to the amount of five hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after ten years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of five per cent. per annum.

Second—Bonds to the amount of three hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after fifteen years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four and a half per cent. per annum.

Third—Bonds to the amount of seven hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after thirty years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four per cent. per annum.

Subscriptions to the loan will have preference in the following order, namely:

First—Subscriptions that may be first made for five per cent. bonds to the amount of two hundred millions of dollars; of which there will be reserved for twenty days, one half for subscribers in this country and one-half for subscribers in foreign countries.

Second—Subscriptions for equal amounts of each class of bonds.

Third—Subscriptions for equal amounts of bonds bearing interest at the rate of four and a half per cent. and of bonds bearing interest at the rate of five per cent.

Fourth—Subscriptions for any five per cent. bonds that may not be subscribed for in the preceding classes.

When a subscription is made the subscriber will be required to deposit two per cent. of the amount thereof, in coin or currency of the United States, or in bonds of the class to be exchanged, to be accounted for by the Government when the new bonds are delivered; and payment may be made either in coin or in bonds of the United States known as FIVE-TWENTY BONDS, at their par value.

The coin received in payment will be applied to the redemption of five-twenty bonds, and the debt of the United States will not be increased by this loan.

The bonds will be registered or issued with coupons, as may be desired by subscribers. Registered bonds will be issued of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000; and coupon bonds of each denomination except the last two. The interest will be payable in the United States, at the office of the Treasurer, any Assistant Treasurer, or Designated Depositary of the Government, quarterly, on the first days of February, May, August, and November in each year.

The bonds of the several classes aforesaid, and the interest thereon, are exempt from the payment of all taxes or dues of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority.

After maturity, the bonds last issued will be first redeemed, by classes and numbers, as may be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The bonds will be issued at the United States Treasury, but the agents for the negotiation of the loan in Europe are authorized to make arrangements with subscribers for the transmission of bonds to the agents through whom subscriptions may be received.

Subscribers in the United States will receive the new bonds of the agents with whom the subscriptions are made.

BONDS at Frankfort, 97.

GOLD closed in New York on yesterday at 110⅝@110¾.

SOMERSET COUNTY, New Jersey, at the late election, went Republican for the first time in twenty years.

OUT of 4,352,769 passengers carried over the Pennsylvania Central Railroad in 1870, only two were killed by accident.

THE Presbyterian Banner, one of our best conducted religious newspapers, comes to us this week in a new and stylish spring dress. We are glad to note this fresh evidence of its prosperity.

A GREAT GAS WELL has been struck in New Orleans, and it has been utilized as a motive power in running an engine, acting upon the piston with a constant pressure of twelve pounds to the square inch.

IN JERSEY CITY the election for city officers under the new charter, resulted in a Republican victory. While last year the Board of Aldermen stood two-thirds Democratic, this year it stands ten Republicans to two Democrats.

WE OBSERVE that some of our Democratic exchanges are publishing entire the speech of Charles Sumner on the San Domingo question. It is about as cheap political capital as we can imagine, but serves to illustrate how destitute of material the opposition is to make war on the administration of President Grant.

MR. JOHN C. HARPER, for a number of years managing editor of the Commercial, and lately connected with the American Review as one of its proprietors and conductors, proposes to publish in this city on and after the 16th inst., a new independent Republican Sunday paper to be named the Morning Call. We wish the enterprising proprietor much success.

THE Doylestown Democrat hoists the name of our esteemed fellow-citizen, General G. W. Cass, for the gubernatorial nomination. There are few better men in the ranks of the opposition than Gen. Cass, but it strikes us that the same old game so often played before on him is to be reenacted—setting him up as a candidate to knock him down in the convention.

THE House has concurred in the Senate amendment appropriating $12,000 for the relief of destitute aged persons in the District of Columbia. We are heartily glad of it. That it is founded on good and substantial reasons, is self-evident from the fact that the only argument that was brought against the amendment was, that it would be used to induce colored people to come to Washington to vote the Radical ticket.

A "SHOO FLY" paper in the oil regions, itching for the GAZETTE to notice it, and knowing our reporter can't be bribed by either the bulls or bears, would like to have him shipped to San Domingo, so that it could get a chance to circulate some in the Oil Regions. Can't help it, gentlemen. The oil men will have the GAZETTE, and are so accustomed to buying and selling on its quotations, that we don't wonder some of the small fry complain. Next.

A LARGE EMIGRATION to the United States is anticipated from Alsace and Lorraine, during the coming summer. To meet this emergency, French residents of New York and Washington propose to form an organization and raise sufficient funds to buy large tracts of land, and colonize their countrymen. Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama have been deemed the best locations, some regard having been paid to selecting land where the climate resembles most nearly that of Eastern France.

MESSRS. STRONG AND STARKWEATHER, the members elect from Connecticut, have been sworn in as members of the House. Unofficial certificates were given by the Board of Canvassers to Strong, Starkweather and Barnum. We suppose Barnum will present his credentials and take the oath soon. Kellogg it appears however, is not to get a seat so readily, as Kendrick has appeared before the Board, and claimed to have been elected. There will be no hearing had in the case until after the 22d inst.

IT HAS BEEN SUGGESTED that it shall be made the law that all poisonous drugs shall be kept in drug stores, in bottles of a peculiar shape, so that it will be impossible to make mistakes. This might act as a preventive in some cases (those of mistaking arsenic in a triangular bottle from cream of tartar), but it would not put sufficient brains into the head of an incompetent clerk as to force him to read a physician's prescription correctly. Still, it might be of use so far as to prevent mistakes of the character first alluded to.

MR. IRVING'S RESIGNATION in the New York Legislature, will in all probability defeat the Democratic effort to hold the State and the United States elections on different days. The object of this movement on the part of the Democracy of New York is fully understood by all our readers as being nothing more than an attempt to rid that party of the protection the Federal Government has thrown around all citizens voting at a United States election. By holding the State election on a different day from the general election, this protection is withdrawn and Democratic roughs of New York can do pretty much as they please at the polls. The resignation of Irving (Democrat), has however scotched this effort, and if it is successful now, the blame must be attributed to the Republicans themselves.

WHAT has come over Hayti? We are told that a number of spies have reached Jamaica to watch refugees and report any movement towards annexing Hayti to the United States. We frankly do not believe that that Government need go to any great worriment of mind over this question. We do not believe that there is a man, woman or child in the United States that has given one good wish that Hayti should be annexed to this Union. We are rather inclined to think that somebody is dealing a little on the sly with the Haytien people, and mayhap raising reports without any foundation in truth. Still it is a little ludicrous, this idea of two or three Haytien spies dodging about here and there, trying to fathom some awful condition of affairs, that has not even the color of existence.

THE NEW YORK BAR ASSOCIATION has taken up the question of the illegal exaction of fees in the offices of Sheriff, County Clerk, Register and other public offices. A committee of five was appointed to take the matter in charge. It seems that this evil was wide spread, and not confined to any one locality or to any one district. Through the energy and faithful discharge of the duties of our members in the State Legislature, we believe that any future illegal exaction of fees, even should any have heretofore been made, will be impossible. Our citizens thoroughly understand, or should do so, that there has been a new table of fees adopted, always open for their inspection and upon demand, and that if hereafter they are defrauded of a penny it will arise through their own negligence to make a proper examination.

THE RESOLUTION of Mr. Sherman, instructing the Senate Finance Committe, to consider during recess the best system of reducing the taxes so as to leave only revenue enough to pay the working expenses of the government has been adopted by the Senate. We are inclined to think that the effect of this will be, if it amounts to anything at all, to destroy the present favorable appearance of a successful reduction of the Internal Revenues, by raising for the consideration of the next session more fearfully long debates over the tariff question. We sincerely hope that such will not be the case, but that the coming session of Congress, at the latest, will abolish the Income Tax as one of its first duties, and at all events, leave all questions immediately affecting the Tariff at rest until the universal demand of the people with regard to the abolition of the Income Tax is complied with.

THE GRAND JURY at Chicago has indicted the Grand Gift Concert of the Milwaukee Musical Society as a lottery. This is a move in the right direction. As a rule these lotteries are in reality nothing but frauds on the people. They hold out temptations for poor men to invest their hard earned capital in tickets, and they create want and poverty among those who are most easily led into just that temptation. The bribe of even the possibility of getting some Opera House, or even five thousand dollars is too much to be resisted, and many a poor wife and her little children have gone without meals, that the husband might throw away his earnings on lottery tickets. The difficulty that exists, is, in drawing a line between comparatively harmless efforts to raise funds through gift concerts and the like character of entertainments, and the cold blooded fraudulent invention of an actual lottery. The best course to be adopted is to know no line, and in this we commend the Grand Jury at Chicago.

JUDGE LUDLOW sent a fellow to jail for contempt of court, in refusing to sit on a jury where a negro was sitting. The fellow made brave boasts about rotting in jail before he would sink his honor and dignity so far as to sit on any jury of that kind. Prison diet and prison fare has humbled to some extent this chivalrous Democrat, and he is now pleading for relief through the merits of a habeas corpus. What the result may be, or on what ground he asks for this relief we do not know, but we are sure that the only road for him from imprisonment ought to be by paying his fine and relieving himself of his contempt. Should however, he escape through any of the technicalties of the law, the worst wish we have for him, and we think it by far too good for him, is, that he may be called on some jury where there is not a white man but himself, and should he refuse again, that his fine be doubled and he returned to the associates he seems more pleased with than with respectable colored men who happen to be jurors.

TEA AND COFEEE.

Considerable diversity of opinion exists at the present time on the comparative healthfulness of tea as a drink at meal times. Without, however, allowing that any drink is healthful immediately at meals, we might, we think, show conclusively that tea is better than coffee for most persons, and coffee better than water. Better than either would be to eat without drinking at all, especially if the saliva furnished is in quantity abundant enough to sufficiently moisten the food.

Having said this much about dry meals, let us inquire into the effects of tea on the animal economy. Its effects are evidently those of a stimulant to the nervous system without the usually reacting influences, incident to the use of alcoholic stimulants; that is, it imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system, which does not immediately pass away as soon as soon as its immediate effects are past. In the sense we speak of it, we do not regard tea as a mere luxury to be used by the rich, but as of equal value to those in moderate circumstances, as well as the poor. The difference between tea and coffee seems to us to consist in this: Tea props and supports the nervous energies of the system and adds vigor to the intellect without impairing the tone and power of the stomach or digestive organs; whilst coffee gives muscular and general force to the system, but is not as likely to agree well with weakly persons, and at the same time is harder on the digestive organs.

It will be observed by most persons, who have paid attention to the subject, that as soon as a person becomes sick coffee is rejected and tea made to take its place. Exactly the same thing takes place with chewers and smokers of tobacco. The sick person, with a stomach sympathizing with the sickness, shuts down on the tobacco and cigars as well as on the coffee and betakes to tea; but as soon as the sickness is over, he invariably goes back to the former, and all three of them, if ever he was an habitual user of them.

Now what is the reason of this; or is there a reason for it? It strikes our mind very forcibly that the stomach weakened by sickness rejects these less easily digested articles,—two of them wholly indigestible, and adopts that which comports with its sickly and enfeebled state—coffee and tea are both producers of wakefulness, and consequently would be useful to all those whose business it is to stay awake. The man, however, who stays awake by the midnight lamp, in intellectual or brain labor, would be far better supported by tea than by coffee, but the watchman who patrols the streets, or the soldier, either on guard or on a long march, would find himself better sustained by the latter, as it will give a longer and more durable tenacity to the muscular system

The soldiers who passed through the late war of the rebellion all say that the strength-supporting influence of coffee was really surprising, and that it would sustain them longer, when out of food, than anything else, and in some of their marches in West Virginia, one soldier, a captain, informed the writer that the first food they had for several days, was some chopped feed which had been made up for the horses, and told us at the same time that a cup of good strong coffee would have been preferable not only to himself but to most of his men.

The teas mostly used, not only in this country but likewse throughout the civilized world, are green and black, and although there are a larger supply of the green sold than of the black variety, the latter is decidedly more healthful and less oppressive to the stomach and digestive organs, if either of them are at all hurtful, when used in moderation; in fact the word moderation, will not only rescues the article under consideration from having an evil result, but also many other articles both of medicinal and cullinary value.

The fact that green tea is sometimes powdered over with a preparation of lime and Prussian blue, to give it more aroma and a more beautiful color, may in some measure add to it noxious properties which it otherwise would not possess, the "heathen Chinee," in this matter of adulteration, not being far behind the other nations of the earth.

Many persons are in the custom of mixing equal parts of each kind, the green and the black together, and consider that something is gained by the union of the two. This may be, but especially would the hurtful qualities of the one be lessened by making it contain less Prussian blue and less lime.

Both kinds are astringent and exhilerating in their effects, and if used to excess, like every thing else, are capable of much mischief.

Black Tea, however, apart from its not being so frequently sophisticated, may probably attract some virtue from the hot iron plates upon which it is dried; the iron itself being a valuable tonic, especially in the form of tea when it is held in perfect solution, and where it is readily digested and assimilated by the stomach.

The teas used in this country are imported from China and Japan, and it may not be generally known, that it is propagated from the seeds which are planted in holes, five or six in each to insure its growth; on the third year it is productive, and from that to six years, when it is at its full growth, about five feet or more. Tea yields three crops in a year—about the last of February, early in April and the latter part of June.

An effort was made to introduce its growth into this country about the year 1859, with some prospect of success, but we have never been able to learn that it amounted to anything worthy of notice. Its quality being dependant upon the soil in which it is cultivated, we can see no reason, in the variety of soil and climate of this country that it should not be cultivated successfully.

EDITORS GAZETTE: It was only last night that my attention was called to the sketch of the GAZETTE by Old Mortality. I think the writer is mistaken about Boyd being Scull's partner. I am under the impression that he was only a "jour." At all events, it was John Scull and Joseph Hall who, on Saturday, July 29th, 1786, published the first number of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, it being also the first paper west of the mountains. Cummings, in his "Western Tour," states that Boyd hung himself about 1790. I. C.

THE FRENCH AT HOME.

The brutal fight of the population of Paris for the control of France, as exhibited by their war on the Government of the Assembly, is simply an effort to retain the mastery which they held, unquestioned, for the last three generations. Ever since the Reign of Terror the law of France has been just what the Parisians chose to make it; and their supremacy, through long usage, has become so habitual that they are now no more prepared to permit any innovation than the body of the French people were to admit possible defeat at the beginning of the recent war with Prussia.

At a time when reasonable men would be supposed to have had a surfeit of defeat and humiliation, and to shrink from the gaze of the unsympathizing world, these unabashed madmen raise their bloody hands against their own countrymen, with quite as much vim as though their cause were just and their strength unimpaired.

While these strictures apply to the Parisians alone, there is yet a strange reprehensibleness running through the national character, which distinguishes the French from every other people. Great intellectual capacities, combined with puerilities equally great, distinguish them, which at one moment make them objects of veneration and at another of scorn and contempt. The lack of ballast is so conspicuous among them, that others with not a tithe of their intelligence can afford to scoff at their conduct. Just like their own balloon: they soar high above all surrounding objects, and attract the admiration of every beholder; yet after all they are but rudderless gas-bags, driven about by every idle wind. The one exception to this was the first Napoleon, who united with all their characteristic brilliant intellect, a singularly acute and almost faultless judgment. No wonder he became the scourge of Europe; the capacity to mould into working shape the fiery material of France, and to suddenly precipitate it upon the surrounding effete governments, was in effect to make him at once master of them all.

Ever since his day the French have been living on Napoleon's glory, and in his name have done many wonderful things. Europe was so thoroughly frightened by the rough usage which it received at his hand that his successors for more than fifty years have been able to keep it in awe by the vitality of his memory. The spell is, however, at last broken by the old Teuton, King William, and we now find that there is nothing remaining but Napoleon's dry bones. Undaunted by their exposure, Paris and some other cities are now going to fight Heaven and earth, and are again running into the atheistic madness of 1793. This disregard of religious obligations and social ties is peculiar to the French, and is a proof of that loose mixture of the high intellectual with the most grovelling of the animal qualities, which seems to run through the entire nation, while the judgment necessary for their control is wanting. The ordinary Frenchman as well as the highest in authority or intelligence is alike its subject. Look, for example, at the third Napoleon. He may be classed as a first-rate Frenchman of the present day, and what do we find in him? The same jumble of great and little qualities which distinguish the rest of his countrymen. Astuteness and success as a civilian, above all the rulers of Europe, combined with the most preposterous failure as a military chieftain; and to these we add some traits, which in any other nation would indicate childishness—such as, his first two abortive attempts to seize the throne, and the recent "baptism of fire" which he gave his son. These opposite elements, together with a large infusion of egotism and selfishness, make up a character which is dangerous, when exhibited as a national peculiarity, and has been the cause of unnumbered woes to other people; but now that it has at last been vanquished in a war of its own seeking, it turns upon itself, and that Paris which but a few months ago expressed a fervor of patriotic indignation at the mere hint of the probable loss of some outlying provinces, strikes at the whole national organization, and risks the total disruption of the French people, rather than lose the tyrannical hold which originated the saying that "Paris is France."

It remains to be seen whether the nation is sufficiently strong and determined to successfully assert its supremacy. The lamb-like innocency with which it has heretofore responded to every whim of Paris, whether for king, emperor, or president, or neither—while it has made it the ridicule of the world, has at the same time so indurated the Parisians with the feeling of mastery, as to make it extremely difficult, if not impossible, to shake off their power. The animosity and venom with which the contest is prosecuted, on the part of the city, bids fair at any rate, to give a finishing stroke to the influence if not to the very existence of the "Grande Nation." Illinois Railways.

The Illinois Legislature last week passed an act regulating the compensation of railways in that state for the transportation of passengers. It divides the railroads into four classes, according to the gross amount of their earnings, and then fixes the maximum rate of charges, viz: Class A to include all railroads whose gross earnings per mile shall be $10,000, two and a half cents per mile; class B, earnings per mile $8,000, or any sum in excess thereof less than $10,000, three cents per mile; class C, earnings per mile $4,000, or less than $8,000, four cents per mile; class D, earnings per mile less than $4,000, four cents per mile. Children under twelve years of age are to be charged only half rates, and ten cents may be added to the fare of any passenger when the same is paid upon the cars, if a ticket might have been procured within a reasonable time before the departure of the train.

THE STATE.

STRAWBERRIES and tomatoes are to be had in the Philadelphia market.

WASHINGTON has become so metropolitan that it has started a restaurant.

CHESTER is complaining of the scarcity of fish, and especially of shad, in the Delaware.

THE Y. M. C. A. of Brookville now issues a monthly paper called the Observer and Recorder.

INDIANA has recently been visited by a lecturer on Mormonism, and the result is a sort of general daftness, three or four at least of the inhabitants having gone mesmerizing on their own hooks.

THE Indiana papers publish the cards of several gentlemen who are willing to be elected Associate Judge. Two of these are especially qualified for the bench, inasmuch as they were private soldiers in the late war.

THE Tyrone Herald says, the number of loaded cars brought off the Tyrone and Clearfield road during the month of March, was 6,178, or an average of a fraction over 228 per day—the largest yield since the road was opened. Pretty good for a forty mile branch.

JOHN SCHMEARSMAN, a saloon-keeper in Huntingdon, got drunk last Friday, and procuring a horse and buggy, drove along the road, and while passing some people, pulled out a revolver and shot himself through the heart. He left a wife and child and a profitable business.

THE Greensburg Herald says: A dog (of the rat terrier species) belonging to A. T. Peterson, of Unity township, killed seventy-one rats in fifteen minutes, and rested twice during the operation. The rats when gathered up measured just one bushel. The above fact can be testified by two witnesses.

THE extensive shedding and stabling attached to Jacob Leiby's distillery, at Middletown, Dauphin county, were fired and destroyed on Saturday morning, the 25th ult. The loss is between $5,000 and $7,000. The fire was the work of an incendiary, as the distillery was not in operation at the time of the occurrence.

THE Warren Mail after describing the performances of a tight rope walker says: "He never used liquor, tobacco, or other stimulants, which in part accounts for his wonderful physical powers. Wouldn't it be well for everybody to imitate his exercise and abstinence." We should like to know when the editor of the Mail intends to reform and take to funambulating.

THE Indiana Progress says; A dwelling house in Mechanicsburg, this county, belonging to Mr. Bager, was discovered to be on fire on Sunday morning about one P. M. By great effort, Mr. Truby's store, on the opposite side of the street, was saved from destruction. The dwelling was insured for $1,000. The building was partly occupied by Mr. Moorehead as a warehouse. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

THE Bedford and Bridgeport Railroad has been mortgaged for the superstructure to the amount of $500,000, which will enable the Directors to complete it promptly. It has been resolved to extend the road from Bridgeport to the Maryland line, a distance of seven or eight miles, to reach the George Creek coal field. This extension is to be completed within three years. The bonds, it is stated, were taken at par, which indicates that capitalists believe that the stock will be a paying investment.

THE Chambersburg Repository says: "On Saturday afternoon, the 8th instant, the well-known Mount Alto forge, northeast of Waynesboro, caught fire, and a general conflagration ensued. The day was windy, and it was impossible with the means of fighting the flames at hand to make any successful resistance. The forge buildings, the dwelling-house, store house, extensive stabling and other buildings were entirely consumed. The fire broke out in the dwelling-house, and was communicated from it to the other buildings. The loss is estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000.

THE Brookville Republican says: On Saturday last B. F. Hall, son of Enoch Hall, of this place, met with a horrible accident which resulted in his death. He was attending the engine in Hall & McCain's planing mill, and at about eleven o'clock, A. M., the engine was stopped, when the men employed in other parts of the mill hurried to the engine room to learn the cause. They found Frank near the engine with almost all his clothing torn off, and his person most shockingly mangled. From the information obtained from him it appears that he was in the act of turning the belt off the grindstone pulley, when he was drawn in and hurled around at a most fearful rate. A most remarkable fact is, that after being so terribly injured he was able to drag himself some twelve or fifteen feet up several steps, and shut off the steam, stopping the engine, thus giving the alarm to the men at work above. He was carried home immediately and physicians summoned, but his injuries were so severe that nothing could be done, save relieve his intense suffering, which lasted until about five o'clock in the evening, when death ensued.

THE Corry Blade of last Monday has the following: Yesterday a band of mourners assembled at the depot in Titusville to convey the remains of a child to its last resting place in Westfield, N. Y. The parents took their seats in the cars, and friends attended to the depositing of the box containing, as it was supposed, the coffin. Mr. Bloss, of the Titusville Herald, assisted in the task and his suspicions were aroused that everything was not right by the lightness of the box. Hastily returning to the house he made the unpleasant discovery that the coffin containing the corpse had been left behind. As the train containing the mourners had left the depot, there was no time to be lost. Application was at once made to the officers of the Oil Creek road for an engine and car—which were promptly furnished. The corpse was deposited in the car and brought to this city, but too late to overtake the train on the Cross Cut railroad, containing the mourners. A request similar to the one made to the Oil Creek road was made to Mr. Potter, of the Cross Cut railroad, and as promptly responded to. The coffin was again put on board a special train in which it was safely conveyed to Westfield where the mourners had only a short time before arrived, unconscious that the box they had in charge did not contain all that was mortal of their beloved child.

The Capacity of the Suez Canal.

A discussion of the prospects of the Suez Canal, in the London Daily News, concludes with these encouraging statements:

The plain fact is that the canal is a substantial success, so far as an excellent and sufficient means of communication between sea and sea is concerned, and the scientific forecast of Mr. John Hawkshaw, F. R. S., the eminent engineer, made years before its completion, has been verified in every particular. It should not be forgotten that this gentleman was engaged by the late Viceroy to report upon the practicability of forming the canal when the mass of opinion was hostile, and when an adverse verdict from him would have caused the work to be stopped, and that he then pronounced uncompromisingly in its favor. His report to the Viceroy is worth studying by any one who desires to understand the subject, or who has doubts concerning the perfect efficiency of the Canal as it exists. Mr. Hawkshaw, who was present at the opening ceremonies in November, 1869, condemned the silly talk as to the necessity of doubling the width as strongly as he confirmed the opinion he had already given as to the canal's absolute and permanent success; and the English public may be satisfied that should a new commercial combination be formed, its aim will be to develop traffic and increase revenue rather than the reckless and useless squandering of millions which any vainglorious attempt to double the width of the canal would most surely result in M. de Lesseps has proved to be right after all. That floating castle, the troop ship Jumna, has been through his "ditch" in safety; the Peninsular and Oriental captains would set about taking their steamers along it without a qualm, if they had but the necessary authority from their board; and if a return were drawn up of the number of English ships which are too large or too deep in the water for the canal, its statistics would be conclusive. Where the Jumna can go, the other troop ships, as well as nearly all the merchant navy of the world, can follow; and this should be enough to show England how truly great are the existing capabilities of the Suez canal, as well as the deep importance of her own relations to it.

Blanqui.

The N. Y. World says: The venerable Blanqui, as the Parisian Reds calls him—though he is venerable only in point of snow-white beard—is again in prison. The greater part of this man's life has been passed in the same way. The revolution of February 1848 released him from a long term of forced service, and his share in the insurrection a few weeks later returned him again to prison. He spent the latter years of the empire in exile, and, returning to Paris after Sedan, has once more contrived to get himself safe under lock and key. Blanqui has always been the reddest of the Red—a radical compared with whom Louis Blanc and Ledru-Rollin are conservative. How he can have excited the suspicions of his colleagues is a mystery only to be explained on the incredible hypothesis that they are more crimson in their political hue than Blanqui himself.

DIED FROM STRANGULATION.

Nothing can be more fearful to contemplate than such a death as is brought about by strangulated hernia or rupture. Who ever has seen the victim of it, writhing in agony, will bear us out in our opinion. But there is no need of any one exposing himself to such a dreadful alternative, for by the timely application of a suitable truss the rupture can be retained in its proper place and in many cases entirely cured and in all of them relieved. Remember we have said by a suitable truss—one-half the bandages sold under that name are not worth the leather which is wasted in covering them, and but illy adapted for the use intended. Another great evil is in the application of trusses. They should not be put on like the hoops of a barrel would be by a man unskilled in cooperage, but they should be put on by a person having a knowledge, not only of the appliances themselves, but also acquainted with the human organism, and especially the anatomy of hernia. What is the comparative expense of a few dollars to that security which one feels in the comfort of a well fitting truss, and besides trusses of as low a price can be had at the establishment of those who are accustomed to fitting them every day as elsewhere.

Dr. KEYSER, of 167 Liberty street, has every needful appliance and at every price.

THE FROST KING.

We have now obtained one of the finest Soda apparatuses this side of New York City, from which we can dispense the purest Soda Water in the city, as all of our Syrups ARE MADE FROM FRUIT, and we use only the purest Fruit Juices.

We also have just received a fresh supply of Kissengen, Vichy, Blue Lick, Saratoga, High Rock, and Congress Waters, that we can sell, wholesale or retail, at the lowest prices. Remember the place.

EXHAUSTION.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations, and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal stimulant and alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are not only a standard tonic and alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia, and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other invigorant and restorative employed in medicinal practice.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints. Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 296 PENN STREET.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, April 13, 1870. }

The money market continues steady, with an increased demand for loans, and a disposition to advance the rates of interest. Ten per cent was the prevailing figure upon the street, with an occasional discount at 9@9½ and some very fair paper offered at 11@12.

The inquiry for A. V. R. R bonds was less marked, but the supply was short.

There was nothing doing in bank shares. A few lots of Insurance stock were offered without eliciting bids.

25½ was bid for Monongahela Water stock, at which we report sale of 50 shares.

The Columbia Oil Co. announce a quarterly dividend of three (3) per cent—equivalent to nearly 36 per cent per annum, on the par value of the stock.

Dalzell stock is dull—25 cts was bid to-day and 40 cts asked.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, April 13, 1871. }

The Petroleum market presents nothing new or important; business continues very sluggish, both in crude and refined, and the outlook is not at all encouraging. There is some inquiry for the latter, mainly for future delivery, but refiners cannot sell at the prices, and, consequently, there is little or nothing doing—no chance to make a move one way or the other. The time of year is now at hand when manufacturers like to lay in and contract for considerable crude, but they can neither buy the one nor sell the other in the present unsatisfactory condition of the market. From all that we can learn, business is also very dull in the producing regions, and it must continue so until prices drop to a point that will enable consumers to buy; and the sooner this takes place the better for the trade, at large, producers as well as dealers and refiners.

REFINED.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with 4 feet 9 inches in the channel. Weather clear and pleasant.

The Julia No. 2 en route for Zanesville broke her shaft at "Logstown," and had to be brought back by a towboat. She transferred her passengers, some 50 in number, to the St. Charles. Capt. Stull expects to be ready to leave on Tuesday next.

The Rover and barges, Capt. Greenlee, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi forthwith, as will be seen by card. She will receipt freight through to all points west and south.

The Juniata arrived about 5 o'clock on Thursday morning with a pretty good trip including, among other items of freight, a considerably quantity of metal. She returned again last night.

The Granite State, from Portsmouth, arrived last evening.

The Carrie Brooks, from Zanesville, is due to-day.

The Wild Duck, Capt. J. W. Anawalt, is announced for St. Louis forthwith. She will receipt freights through to all points south and west.

Business continues very sluggish at the wharf; freights for all points are very scarce, and the best part of the spring trade may be regarded as over.

—W. T. Reynolds has been appointed Hull Inspector at Louisville.

—Capt. Wm. J. Kountz is in Sioux City, and will remain there until relieved by Capt. H. K. Hazlett.

—The Shannon, Yeager, N. J. Bigley and Simpson Horner arrived at New Orleans on Wednesday.

—The St. Marys left Cincinnati for New Orleans on Wednesday, and the Eagle and Painter arrived at Louisville the same day.

—The Wauanita left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday and the Messenger arrived there from New Orleans the same day.

—The Mollie Ebert and Cowan collided below Salt River on Tuesday. The Ebert sustained considerable damage which was repaired at Evansville.

—The Comet arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday and the Lorena is en route for this port. The Belle and John A. Wood were at Cairo the same day.

—Captain Pepper's contract for the Thompson Dean calls for her completion on or before October 4. For every day her completion is deferred beyond that day, Capt. Pepper is to be paid $100 by the builders.

—Captain Gus Descouchet, who has been in Cincinnati for several days, contemplates building a new boat for the Armada's machinery and cabin. The contract will probably be let to parties at Louisville, Jeffersonville or New Albany.

—We clip the following from the Louisville Courier of Wednesday: The Diamond did not get her tow through the canal yesterday, but will do so to-day, and leave for Memphis and White river with a full tow. W. D. Cox and John Ragan, pilots.

The towboat Wm. Cowan arrived yesterday with five model barges of iron ore. They will be towed to Pittsburgh by some other boat. As soon as the Cowan patches her boilers she will leave here with a tow of coal for New Orleans. On her up trip she grounded between Memphis and Cairo, loosing seventeen hours.

—Wm. Bryant, bar-keeper of the Mary Houston, Louisville and New Orleans packet, receieved a notice on Saturday, at Memphis, from John C. Bridges, of the special police, to call at the office of F. W. Robertson, city tax collector, in the Exchange building, without further notice, and take out a license. Mr. Bryant has a permit from the United States to transact business, under the marine law, between New Orleans and Louisville.

—The Cincinnati Gazette, of the sixth inst., has the impudence to growl because the boats that land at Evansville happen to be charged more wharfage on the goods they land at that point, than the price of freight they receive for the same amounts to. We would like to know what steamboats are built for, but to plunder. You ought to be ashamed of yourselves for mentioning such a thing. We would like to know how the wharfmaster and other city officials, could afford to pay for their diamonds, etc., if the steamboats did not?—N. O. Republican.

—The Mollie Able, wrecked in the late fearful storm, was to be towed, last evening, to this side of the river, and this morning will be turned over to Port Warden Eaton, to be sold for the benefit of whom it may concern. The owners have all along been convinced that about $30,000 would be required to make the Mollie Able as good a boat as she was previous to her demolition; and their judgment has been endorsed by a commission consisting of Messrs. Wm. B. Miller, Bernard and J. P. Keiser, whose estimate is about $31,000. Why the Underwriters on the Mollie Able don't see it in the same light, we are not informed.—St. Louis Democrat.

—The Paducah Kentuckian has the following in regard to the bursting of the Sam J. Hale's steam pipes: "The main pipe, which bursted just at the flange, had been used four or five years on the old steamboat Diamond, and four years on the Hale. It was of full thickness, and no cause could be assigned for the explosion except natural wear and tear of the copper, caused in time by the shaking of the boat. It could not have been prevented, and was such an accident as might occur at any time and on any boat. This was the testimony of the engineers, and it was corroborated by parties here who examined the pipe. It was tested at 220 pounds last November. The principal witness examined was Charles H. Gillespie, the second engineer who was on watch at the time. He testifies that he had gone forward to the boilers to try the water, and was returning and about twelve feet from the pipe when it bursted; the steam guage marked 136 pounds of steam. The law allows 140. Only six men were in the engine-room at the time of the accident, and all of them are dead.

WINE OF LIFE.—The great Blood Purifier and Delicious Drink, WARNER'S VINUM VITÆ, OR WINE OF LIFE, is free from any poisonous drugs or impurities, being prepared for those who require a stimulant. It is a splendid appetizer and tonic, and the finest thing in the world for purifying the blood. It is the most pleasant and delicious article ever offered to the public, far superior to brandy, whisky, wine bitters, or any other article. It is more healthy and cheaper. Both male and female, young or old, can take the Wine of Life. It is in fact, a life preserver. Those who wish to enjoy good health and a free flow of lively spirits, will do well to take the Wine of Life. It is different from anything ever before in use. It is sold by druggists; also at all respectable saloons. Price $1.00, in quart bottles.

Keep Your Houses Clean,

SAVE FUEL.

BY USING THE

Wellman Patent Reflector

STOVE AND GRATE.

Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

Obituary.—Mr. Manus McCloskey, an old resident of this city and for many years an active coal operator and shipper, died at his residence at Soho, on Wednesday. He was universally esteemed and respected.

Advertising Agency.—Messrs. T. L. McClelland & Co. have succeeded in establishing in our city an advertising agency conducted on the most approved plan. They are reliable business men and in every way deserving of success and prosperity.

Western Theological Seminary.—The Rev. Theo. L. Cuyler, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y., is announced to deliver the annual address before the Society of Inquiry of the Allegheny Theological Seminary on Tuesday evening next in the First Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh.

The western division of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association will meet at the office of Dr. E. Donnelly, No 139 Grant street on Saturday evening April 16th to make arrangements for attending the annual reunion at Philadelphia, on the 16th day of May. A full attendance is requested.

Tea and Coffee.—We present in our editorial column this morning an interesting and carefully prepared article on tea and coffee, from the gifted pen of our friend Dr. George H. Keyser, a scientist of much culture and deep study, who promises us a series of contributions on like familiar topics.

Fire Yesterday.—The alarm of fire sounded from box 67, at 4:25 yesterday afternoon, was occasioned by an oil still at the works of Messrs. Wormser, Meyers & Co., taking fire from the oil that leaked from the safety valve. The department were promptly on the ground and extinguished it before any material damage was done.

Assault and Battery.—John Shally made an information before Alderman O'Donnell yesterday, charging Leaf Johnson with assault and battery. The parties are coal diggers and work at Sandy Creek, and some difficulty arising about work, the defendant, as is alleged, knocked the prosecutor down and kicked him. A warrant was issued.

The same prosecutor also made an information before the same magistrate charging Hamilton Frew with surety of the peace. This is part of the difficulty noted above, and in this case the complainant alleges that the accused threatened to kill him. Arrested and committed to jail for Court.

A Model Husband.

Mrs. Rebecca Silk made oath before Alderman Moreland yesterday against her husband, George W. Silk, for assault and battery and surety of the peace. She alleges that George indulged frequently in the habit of beating her and that on one occasion he lifted a chair and was about to strike her with it when she ran out and sought protection in a neighbor's house. On another occasion he took up a carving knife and threatened to take her life. The accused was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Tour of Inspection.

Last night the Allegheny Board of Directors of the Poor left for an extended tour of inspection throughout the eastern cities, with a view of gaining information relative to the construction and ventilation of the principal poor houses of the country, to be adopted in the new building about to be erected in our sister city. The following gentlemen made up the party: Messrs. Col. Geo. Gerst, Martin Ley, Ernest Eggers, Thomas Scandrett, Wm. Scandrett, William Murdoch, John M. Barr and Henry M. Long. The excursionists will visit Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Poughkeepsie, and other parts, and will be absent about two weeks. The expenses of the commission are defrayed out of the individual resources of the members.

In Trouble.

Maria Anderson charged George Jones, before Alderman McMasters yesterday with larceny by bailee. The prosecutrix alleges that some months ago when George took unto himself a helpmeet he was too poor to purchase the necessary house keeping outfit and that she kindly lent him a looking glass and skillet, the one to assist him in the proper adornment of his person, and the other in which to prepare his victuals, and that when she demanded a return of the same he refused to give them up. Officer Biondin is looking for George.

Lucy Ann Jones, wife of the aforesaid George, also enters a complaint against him. She alleges that he has deserted her and taken all her houshhold effects to Allegheny, where he joined church and is now living with another woman whom he passes off as his wife. A warrant on this complaint was also issued.

Free Concert.

The concert last evening at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms was a grand success. The rooms were densely crowded, fully half the audience being ladies. The entertainment was given through the kindness of the Allegheny Quartette, composed of the Messrs. Slack, and Messrs. Darrah and Horner, Mr. Knake presiding most admirably at the organ. All the pieces were well sung, and gave great satisfaction to the large and appreciative audience, the humorous pieces particularly producing immense applause. Among them were the "Singing School" and "Profundo Basso," and on the encore they sung "The Sneezing Chorus." Among the sentimental pieces were 'Memory's Refrain,' "Beautiful Sunset," and "Where Mother is We Call it Home." The sacred piece, "Hold the Fort," was very fine. The concert closed with the grand Doxology "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

The series of concerts has proven a grand success. All of them have attracted large audiences, and the music has been of a very high order. The concerts have been among the very best given in the city, and the Christian Association deserve much credit for the pleasant means they use, not only to please the public, but to familiarize it with and attract it to their rooms. An announcement was made of the free lecture on "Frederick William Robertson," by Rev. F. A. Noble, on Thursday evening, April 20th.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Joseph Murphy takes a benefit at this house to-night, when will be repeated his play of "Help" in which he sustains admirably four characters of as many nationalities. To-morrow at two o'clock there will be a "Help" matinee and in the evening Mr. Murphy makes his farewell appearance.

OPERA HOUSE.—To-night Mr. Larry Tooly, that painstaking and most meritorious and amusing "Dutch" actor takes a benefit. An immense bill, with the beneficiary in a large number of his best songs and dances, is offered. By all means give him a rouser. There will be a matinee at 2:30 to-morrow.

MASONIC HALL.—Have you any curiosity to hear two songs sung at the same time by one person? If so, call in at Masonic Hall some time this afternoon or evening, and you will have an opportunity, as the two-headed girl performs that feat in vocalism to perfection. There are other attractions also at Masonic Hall, not the least of which is the Kentucky Giant, Capt. Bates, who carries the palm for height and manly beauty. The Nova Scotia Giantess is also a personage in her way, and, like the play in the Thespian Temple, should be seen to be appreciated. Drop in at Masonic Hall.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—Drop into Trimble's Varieties to night if you want to have a jolly good laugh. Little young Jack Sheppard, Miss Emma Grattan, with song and dance, is the central attraction; but then there are others whose specialties will excite laughter, and who are in that line at the top of the troupe. Trimble's will be open to-night and all the company will appear.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT—Do not forget that to-night Dr. McCosh, the eminent Presbyterian divine, and President of the faculty of Princeton College, will lecture at Library Hall, on Religion and recent Scientific discoveries. The Doctor has so great a reputation, especially among people of his own belief, that we look for a crowded house to-night.

Mr. Daniel Dougherty who is to deliver the next and last lecture (upon oratory) of the Library course is thus spoken of by the Philadelphia Press: "Mr. Dougherty is universally known here, not only as one of our most able and prominent lawyers, but as an unusually gifted speaker. His easy, polished delivery, ready wit, and genial manner, are irresistibly charming, and being thus, in the truest sense, an orator himself, he is eminently qualified to discuss the subject of oratory. He lectured upon this theme in Washington, a short time ago, to one of the most distinguished audiences ever assembled there, and the newspapers of that city were unanimous and enthusiastic in their praise of the effort."

Regular Meeting Last Night—Various Routine Matters—The "Unexpended Balance"—The Councilmen's Contracts—The "Library" in Trouble—Locust Street Again Under Fire—Reports From the Departments, &c., &c.

Last night Allegheny Councils held a regular meeting at City Hall.

Select Council.

JAMES McBRIER.......................President
J. R. OXLEY..................................Clerk

This branch was called to order at fifteen minutes to eight, the following members being present:

Messrs—Hall, Huckenstine, Matthias, Megraw, Moul, Wm. Heagy, Patterson, Phillips Reineman, Riddle, Schoyer, Thompson Wettach, and President McBrier.

On motion of Mr. HALL the reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

Mr. THOMPSON presented the credentials of Mr. Wm. Heagy the new member elect from the Fifth Ward, which were approved and the gentleman sworn in.

DON'T NEED A POSTOFFICE.

Mr. MATTHIAS presented a petition from the citizens of the Ninth ward, asking Councils to recommend to the Government the discontinuance of the Postoffice in the Ninth ward, the letter-carrier system rendering it unnecessary. The Councils approved of the paper.

Also communication in reference to widening of Preble street, from Mr. James Hutchison, who remonstrated against the widening of the street as proposed. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. PATTERSON presented two remonstrances against the opening and extension of Church avenue, for which a petition had been presented. Referred to Survey Committee.

NEW WATER PIPES.

Mr. WETTACH presented the report of the Water Committee, recommending the laying of water pipes on Buena Vista, Franklin, Main, Sycamore, Jackson, Fremont, Chartiers and Juniata streets, and on Pasture Lane.

The Committee also recommended the laying of 4,650 feet of water pipe in the Ninth ward, from Beaver avenue terminus to Wood's Run at a cost of about $12,000.

The Committee asked for power to issue $12,000 water bonds for the purpose of laying this pipe in the Ninth ward.

Resolutions authorizing the laying of the pipes and issue of the bonds accompanied the report, which was received and resolutions adopted.

THE FINANCES.

Mr. HALL, from the Committee on Finance, presented a report recommending the approval of the proposed act of Assembly to regulate "unexpended balances." Two acts had been before the committee, and they recommended the approval of the original draft as presented in Common Council, with the alterations designated in the following resolution:

Resolved, That we recommend the passage of the act originating in the Common Council containing five sections; Provided, That the second section of the other act submitted to the committee be incorporated therewith, and to confer therein upon the Finance Committee of the City Councils the power to appoint the collectors of all the deliquent taxes; And provided further, That before transmitting to the Legislature for enactment, it be submitted to the Conference Committee of Councils and the Board of Controllers.

The committee also reported a resolution authorizing the repayment of overpaid assessments, amounting to about $40, on the repaving of the Butler Plank Road within the city limits.

The report was accepted and the last resolution adopted.

The first resolution in reference to the "unexpended balance" was referred to the joint committee therein provided for with instructions to report an act upon which they agreed.

Mr. HALL also presented the report of the Controller, of which the following is a recapitulation of the

The report was accepted and warrants ordered.

CITY PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. RIDDLE presented the report of the Committee on City Property. The Committee stated they had had several bills before them in which Councilmen had a direct interest, and they proposed to refuse the approval of all such. They reported a resolution requiring the Controller to administer the usual oath to all parties having claims against the city, that no member of Councils was interested therein.

The Committee further reported a second resolution, that the heads of departments be notified that no bill of their contracting shall be paid unless they have first obtained the assent of the particular committee whose duty it is to approve the same.

The Committee also reported an increase of $50 in the Janitor's salary.

The Committee further recommended the building of a building for water closets for market people in the First ward square, and offered a resolution to that effect.

Also, resolution for notifying the Directors of the Library to vacate the room now held by them at —— time, as the same was needed for city officers. This resolution was accompanied by a proviso, providing for the payment of the rent of a new room for the Library.

AFTER THE COUNCILMEN.

The first resolution in relation to administering the oath to all parties presenting bills, was taken up.

Mr. HALL thought the Controller always did that and need have no instruction upon it, otherwise he did not do his duty.

Mr. PHILLIPS thought members of Councils had a right to see anything in their line to the city provided it was not a contract only a sale made that time. He had consulted Judge Veech in relation to that matter and he held the same opinion which evidently was "horse sense." (Laughter.)

Mr. MEGRAW thought it wasn't always necessary to administer this oath as when a bill was once approved by the Committee that it should be sworn to before the Controller. It was urging the matter too far.

Mr. RIDDLE said the reason they had presented the resolution was that during their term many bills had come before them for hundreds of dollars in which members of Councils were directly interested.

Mr. SCHOYER read the law which provided that no Councilman could furnish "any supplies."

"A GENTLE HINT."

Mr. RIDDLE—We don't want to make a new law. We have only offered this as a gentle hint to Councilmen.

Mr. PHILLIPS had submitted the old law to Judge Veech. If the new law was as read, however, it was an addition and he would back down.

Mr. RIDDLE—A member of Council who sells the city anything under that law is laying himself open to a very serious charge. There is a fine of $500 provided there for all violations of the law.

Mr. MEGRAW thought the idea of the Committee was to stop all contracts made by city officers without the consent of Councils.

Mr. HALL said the law was much more stringent than he had at first thought. Any member of Councils who furnished anything to the city was breaking its provisions, no matter whether it was a regular contract or not. He was laying himself open to a fine and to a criminal indictment. The Councilman who furnished any supplies was doing wrong, clearly, and breaking his oath.

Mr. RIDDLE said there was nothing in the resolution of a personal character. It was simply a resolution to have the law strictly enforced.

The resolution as read was then adopted. The second resolution, relative to increasing the salary of the Janitor fifty dollars, was then adopted.

The third resolution in relation to a public water closet on the First ward square was read.

Mr. HALL—I am opposed to the erection of a second building on that square; it already has one building—the weigh scales.

A DUBIOUS HONOR.

Mr. PHILLIPS—Why put this building on the First Ward square? (Laughter). I am opposed to that. Of course, the location has its advantages, but we don't want that ornament.

Mr. RIDDLE—The First ward gentlemen are always grumbling that the Second ward gets everything. Now we give them something. (Laughter).

The matter was finally referred to the City Engineer to prepare a plan for the building and present the same to Councils, after which a location would be decided upon.

THE "LIBRARY" EJECTED.

The fourth resolution in relation to the "Library was amended, instructing the Directors to vacate the room on three months' notice, and in that shape passed. The provision for renting a room for the Library was laid on the table.

Mr. RIDDLE also presented the draft of a lease which had been drawn up by the City Solicitor, to secure the Keystone Rink for the militia at an annual rental of $2,000, for the unexpired portion of the time of the lease of the Rink Company. The lease was approved.

THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

Mr. PATTERSON, from the Street Committee, presented a report accompanied by the original ordinance for the widening of Locust street, which had been referred to them, together with all the papers relating thereto. The committee recommended that Councils fix the width.

They also reported a resolution for the paving of the cartway on Pasture Lane, from Jackson street to the old city line.

Also the following ordinances: grading and paving of Gas alley, Pasture alley, Willow street and Main street; grading Perry street; opening Sturgeon street; construction of sewers on North and Sturgeon streets.

The report was received and the resolution adopted.

The ordinances mentioned were then read three times and passed finally under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. PATTERSON presented an ordinance for a lateral sewer on Ridge street. Passed finally, with approval of plan.

Also, an ordinance for construction of a sewer on North avenue, from Sandusky street. Passed finally.

LOCUST STREET ONCE MORE.

An ordinance for the opening of Locust street was then called up.

Mr. THOMPSON moved that the ordinance with the papers be referred to the Survey Committee. Carried.

Mr. PATTERSON presented the report of the viewers on the opening of Perry street.

Also, profile of grade of a street in Ashworth and Aescheiman's plan Second ward, and profile of grade of Curry street, Seventh ward. The papers were approved.

Mr. HALL presented a resolution for the repairing of Jackson street from Monterey to Irwin avenue. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. MEGRAW moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the ordinance on Fulton street was voted down. This ordinance was voted down, because by the plan the house of A. Guckenheimer was allowed to stand and make an offset in the street.

The vote was reconsidered and the ordinance read three times and passed under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. PATTERSON called up the supplemental act in relation to streets which had been laid over for some time. The supplement provided for the appointment of viewers on all streets repaired or changed in width to assess the damages between the city and property holders. Finally the paper was referred back to the Committee for revision.

Mr. PETERSON offered a resolution of inquiry as to whether the Locomotive Works Company had been relieved from the payment of assessments for improvement of Preble street.

Mr. HUCKENSTINE, resolution for the erection of gas lamps on Green and Perry streets. Referred to Gas Committee.

Mr. PHILIPS a resolution requiring parties who make excavations in the streets to build around at nights, a fence to guard pedestrians or teams from danger. Referred to Ordinance Committee to prepare an ordinance.

Also, a resolution recommending landlords to extend their leases from April first to May first that "moving day" might be changed. The resolution was similar to that presented in Pittsburgh councils at their last meeting. Passed.

BUSINESS FROM THE COMMON COUNCIL

was then taken up.

The ordinance relative to the extension of Fayette street to the river, from Beaver avenue was referred to Street Committee in Common Council. Select Council non-concurred and asked for committee of conference.

Adjourned.

Adopted.

THE COURTS.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

The case of A. McCarty for false pretense—in purchasing produce from Charles Duffy—as reported, was resumed. The jury returned a verdict of acquittal, but ordered the defendant to pay the costs.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. C. F. Smith, indicted for seduction, fornication and bastardy, in which Mary Ann Nevergold was prosecutrix, a plea of nolle pros. was entered, on the payment of costs.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Jacob Aiglee, indicted for selling liquor without license, nolle pros. was allowed, without costs, it appearing to the Court that the defendant had been duly licensed.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Isaac Gilder, alias "Cheap" Isaac, indicted for receiving stolen goods, was taken up. The defendant in this case who keeps a second-hand store on Wylie street, near Fifth avenue, is charged with receiving stolen goods from John Bayne, who was tried and convicted of larceny in December last, but whose sentence was deferred in order that he might testify in this case. The goods alleged to have been received were a number of boots and shoes, which it appears were taken from a store on Federal street, Allegheny. From the evidence it appears that the goods were obtained from the store mentioned, by Bayne. He intimidating a small boy who was the only one in the store at the time. These goods, consisting of several pair of boots, shoes and gaiters, were found in the possession of Gilder, for which, according to the testimony of Bayne, he had paid $4 dollars in cash, and an old coat. On trial.

TRIAL LIST FOR FRIDAY.

"ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO."

Library Hall was filled last evening with a pretty fair audience to hear James Parton, Esq., the great biographer, and writer delivers his lecture entitled "One Hundred Years' Ago." The distinguished gentleman was introduced by W. J. Radcliff, Esq., and was received with applause.

Mr. Parton commenced by stating that the world was divided into two classes the "Hold-backs" and "Propellers." When he was in the city about three years ago he was told that the "Hold-backs" were in the majority, but from the evidences of progress he had around him, and especially in the new and magnificent Hall, in which they were assembled, he was of the opinion the "Propellers" were now in the majority.

After referring to some of the conservative elements which we have in us and around us, he launched into his subject, and spoke of the ignorance that prevailed a hundred years ago. He referred to the ignorance of saints as well as sinners in the last century. In 1770 Louis XVI. of France, a mere boy of twenty years, touched 2,400 persons with his royal finger to cure them of the king's evil. In 1787, when George Washington and James Madison were framing the organic law on which the nation was to stand, a poor old woman was stoned in Philadelphia as a witch. John Wesley and Dr. Johnson both believed in witchcraft, apparitions and haunted houses. In his Diary in 1768, John Wesley declares that "he who denies witchcraft denies the Bible." Dr. Johnson received the royal touch of Queen Anne for the king's evil. The German Goethe, the most gifted young man then living, was seeking the "virgin earth;" and many men in German universities were passing sleepless nights in trying to make gold. When Prof. Silliman was appointed Professor of Chemistry in Yale College, he knew nothing about the subject, and had to go to Philadelphia to learn the first rudiments of the science. During his absence the Trustees of the College thought it would be a good opportunity for them to prepare a lecture room for him. They scooped out sixteen feet under the ground, lest the College might be blown up by the explosion of his chemicals.

When Professor Silliman was appointed professor of chemistry in Yale College, neither he nor any other man in New England knew anything about chemistry, and he was obliged to go to Philadelphia to learn the merest rudiments of the science. When at last he began to lecture in that famous old vault, sixteen feet under ground, he wanted some glass retorts, and sent to the glassworks, as a pattern, the only retort the college could boast off, the bulb of which was broken off from the neck. The glassmaker copied the model with Chinese fidelity, and sent all the retorts home with the bulbs and neck nicely separated. The state of medical science, the lecturer thought, was fairly shown by a remark of Figaro, in the Barber of Seville: "All the garrison take physic to-morrow morning, and I have had interest enough to get the contract for giving them that dose." In the olden time doctors bled for almost every disease, drawing blood sometimes from the arm, sometimes from the foot, according to their fancy.

Mr. Crawford, a candidate for the Presidency in 1824, was stricken with paralysis in the midst of the campaign, and was bled twenty-three times in three weeks, and bled profusely each time, and then people wondered that it took him three years to get well. Along with this gross ignorance there existed a certain dread of the advance of knowledge, as if it were impious for a man to pry into Nature's secrets. When Dr. Franklin invented the lightning rod, a Harvard Professor had to come forward in a pamphlet and defend Franklin against the charge of presumption, and prove that lightning rods were not opposed either to natural or revealed religion. Mr. Parton quoted from an article of 1850, in which the actors of Drury Lane Theatre were severely reprehended for imitating thunder and lightning in the tragedy of Macbeth. A similar feeling exists to this day in a certain State, where they will vote for General Jackson—where a dealer in lightning rods is often obliged to discuss theology before he can drive a bargain.

In point of humanity and benevolence, the progress of man had been so signal that even the most cynical and despairing Carlyle could scarcely deny it. It is only 98 years since Howard found the jails of Europe to be filthy dungeons, the keepers of which had the privilege of selling liquor and tobacco to the inmates; so that a jail was only an infernal taproom, wherein men and women, old and young fostered and rioted together. The very year in which Howard began his work, a woman was burned at the stake in Spain, on a charge of having made a compact with the devil. The lecturer drew a hideous picture of the torture and execution of poor Damiens, a crazy fanatic, who grazed the skin of Louis XV. of France, with a pen-knife, and was torn limb from limb by four horses, after undergoing unspeakable torments of various kinds. The awful fact of this case was not that the King permitted it but all France applauded the punishment, and Europe was not shocked at it. No one protested nor interceded; and, if we may judge from the memoirs of the time, all Christendom seemed to regard the penalty as just and proper. He alluded also to the criminal system of England at that time, when whole cartloads of malefactors, men and boys, were taken to Tyburn, after every assize and executed—sometimes five or six carts full of criminals going to the place of execution, one behind the other, the criminals themselves laughing and singing.

Turning from these graver aspects of the subject, the lecturer commenced in a ludicrous vein upon the manner in which children were treated in the good old times, and gave an amusing account of his own experiences in a New York school of the ancient pattern. Washington Irving, he said, who went to school in New York soon after the Revolutionary War, was so affected by the sight of the punishments inflicted, that the teacher had to let him go home with the girls before whipping-time came. Gibbon also records that his knowledge of the Latin syntax cost him a good many tears and some blood, and many have purchased it at the same price since that time. The first President of Harvard College was a great whipper of the students, and at last he punished one of them so severely with a cudgel that even the old Boston Puritans could not stand it, and turned him out. At the same time, the speaker contended, weak parents were just as foolishly indulgent toward their children as they are now. He gave, in illustration, that curious scene from the memoirs of the Countess de Genlis, where a spoiled child insists on having the flowery head-dress of the Countess to play with, and sticks to the point until she is obliged to take it off. Mr. Parton referred to the tendency we all have to regard the great evils of the day as things new or very recent. He used to suppose that the contention of the bulls and bears in Wall street was peculiar to the present time. But when Blennerhassett arrived in New York, toward the close of the last century, he found plenty of bulls and bears here, although the objects of the strife then were lands and lots. There were cornerings and rings, and selling short, and all the other devices now practiced, though not called by the present names. Corrupt politics were not new. When Palmerston entered Parliament he bought his seat for £5,000, which he tells us was the market price in 1806. Lord North's majority in the House of Commons, by which he fought the American Revolution from beginning to end, was a majority bought and paid for, and it was that corrupt House of Commons which dismembered the British Empire, and lost England her chance of ruling the world from the banks of the Hudson. Ireland, Poland, France, owed their disasters to corrupt politics, and the bandit Bonapartes were the penalty which France has paid and is paying for the harlot government of the Bourbons. Nor were politics in the Colonies entirely pure, as the lecturer showed by some amusing anecdotes.

Bishop Kip, of New York, had lately told us, in Putnam's Magazine, how agreeable and dignified New York society was in the time of the Schuylers, the Van Renssalaers, and the Livingstons; but, at the same time, he has given us to understand that to maintain one of those fine families required half a county. This was too expensive; for nothing must be accepted as victory for the human race until every honest and worthy family shall be as truly refined and dignified as the best aristocrat that ever lived. The lecturer concluded with a number of items, short and sharp, in which the progress made in various provinces was indicated rather than expressed.

Mr. Parton, then for the sake of brevity, indulged in a little itemizing after the manner of the Press, and commenced with the newspapers, in which he said there was a great change for the better within the last century. News paragraphs were bought in London for two pence a dozen; now we pay $3,000 for a cable dispatch. Fifty things were found in Franklin's Pennsylvania Gazette that would not now be printed in the most scurrillous sheet in the country. We have got all the way from pack-horses to palace cars. He said vice was the exception, but appears to disadvantage as it is all recorded, and good deeds are omitted from the paragraphs in the daily and weekly press. He said the great difficulty of getting a genuine knowledge either of the past or the present was owing to the fact that crimes, wars, and disasters are recorded at great length, while virtuous actions and the nobler triumphs of peace often escape record altogether. About Napoleon, whom the speaker seemed to regard with contempt, there is a whole library; but of the illustrious Newton we have not a tolerable biography. In illustration of this point, Mr. Parton gave a passage from his own experience, when he held the post of paragraph-maker to a New York weekly paper. Thinking it unjust that the press should report men's evil deeds at so much length, while passing over good actions, he determined to found a new department, which should record good deeds only. But, after ransacking all the world of journalism, and even keeping a bright lookout in the streets for acts of benevolence and heroism, he was obliged to give up the idea from the impossibility of procuring sufficient material. And yet, during that very time, as at all times, the vast majority of all the actions done in the world were virtuous. It is only those who familiarly know both the past and the present who can realize the consoling truth that, during the last hundred years, there has been improvement everywhere and real retrogradation nowhere.

The lecture, of which the above is a mere outline, was well received.

Rev. Dr. McCosh, of Princeton, lectures tonight in Library Hall, on "Religion and Recent Scientific Discoveries."

BOLD ROBBERY.

Two Masked Men Enter a House and Bind and Gag the Mistress—No Clue to the Perpetrators.

An outrage and robbery of a singular and bold character is reported to have occurred at Brownstown, about four o'clock on Wednesday morning. On Friday last the wife of Thomas Rogers, of Larkins alley, was confined. On the morning named Mr. Rogers, who works at the American Iron Works, was summoned to work by the watchman of the mill. He left the house, leaving his wife and the servant girl, who slept with her, both asleep. As he went out of the house he noticed two men in the alley, who spoke to him as he passed. The watchmen who called Mr. Rogers stated that he had seen the men in the alley as he went into the house. No attention, however, was paid to them.

Shortly after her husband left Mrs. Rogers was awakened and saw two masked men in the room, but before she could give an alarm they bound and gagged her. They then took a pocket-book containing about forty dollars, which Mr. R. had received but a few days before, from under the pillow, and after searching about the house and getting some other articles of value they decamped, leaving Mrs. Rogers bound and gagged. The most singular feature of the case is that the servant girl who was lying in the same bed with Mrs. Rogers did not awake, apparently, while the robbers were there nor for some time after they had left. It is thought they adminstered chloroform to her. As soon as she did awake she removed the gag and unbound Mrs. R., who stated that if she had remained in that position fifteen minutes longer she would have died. The matter is now in the hands of the authorities and it is to be hoped that they will succeed in catching the rascals.

I Have been using Sawyer's Barber Soap for about nine years, and I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best shaving soap I have ever used. It is now used in our family almost exclusively as a toilet soap and gives entire satisfaction. JOHN DOUGLAS,

THE OIL REGIONS.

Death by Suicide—Destructive Fire—New Strikes.

The Titusville Herald of yesterday says: The body of a man in an advanced stage of decomposition was discovered yesterday near Petroleum Centre, a few yards from the path leading up what is known as "Wild Cat Hollow." Several dollars in money and papers were found upon the body, which showed his name to be James Glosky, a workman in that vicinity who had been missing for several months. From circumstances connected with the finding and position of the body it appeared that the unfortunate had attempted to commit suicide, for his undershirt was torn into shreds to make a rope, which was around his neck; but it would also seem that in endeavoring to climb a tree for the purpose of affixing the opposite end of the rope, he had fallen to the ground, breaking his neck instantly, Providence thus preventing a suicide's act. His head was doubled back in under his body, and the neck had been dislocated. The remains had probably lain where discovered all winter, and were only discovered by the offensive odor proceeding from that vicinity, and which occasioned a search as to the cause. One hand was missing, and although the above statement is supposed to be correct, it will doubtless never be fully explained how he met his death, and another mystery is added to the many that have marked the past few years in the oil regions.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

The fire which commenced on Tuesday afternoon, on Watson Flats, below Hinkley & Bro.'s refinery, gradually spread to the Guild Tract yesterday, burning several old derricks and cut wood. The wind heightened during the day, and towards three o'clock in the afternoon the flying embers ignited several parts of the Dalrymple, Watson & Berry tract, on the north side of the road, in close contiguity to the Johnson House. Mr. Johnson, fearing for the safety of his buildings, rode to the city and procured the assistance of the Fire Department, who were not long in making their way out there, a distance of about a mile and a half beyond the toll gate. A small stream, which is dammed up directly in front of the house, furnished water in abundance to the steamer Col. Drake, and those places on fire and within reach of the hose were speedily extinguished, and the whole neighboring ground thoroughly saturated with water. All danger is now supposed to be at an end. A small shanty in these woods, and close to the road, had five kegs of gunpowder deposited in it, for safety, and necessary precautions were taken to have them removed in case the fire should come too close. The fire covered an area of several hundred acres, and some small shanties on the Guild tract were in imminent danger of being consumed. One of the houses is occupied by John Junk, his wife and four children and the other by John Miller and Henry Falstead, with their families. They were using superhuman efforts to stop the progress of the flames, and if the wind abates they will probably succeed. Great credit is due to the fire department for their energy and promptitude outside of the city limits.

The gunpowder was removed about nine o'clock last night to a more secure locality. The fire about ten o'clock had taken a southeasterly course and spread about three-fourths of a mile to the opposite hill. The spectacle was grand and brilliant in the darkness of night, as the flames leaped from tree to tree on the hill side. It is to be hoped that no dwelling houses lie in its track.

LATE STRIKES.

A new well recently struck on the Fisher & Harrington tract, near Pithole, and supposed to be favorably located, is only pumping about six barrels daily. Another well on the same track is dry, and it is reported that the wells now producing in that vicinity are falling off.

Out of five wells put down at East Sandy two are pumping about fifteen barrels each, and two are dry.

Three wells recently finished in the Church Run district are dry holes, and two other recent strikes are doing about two barrels each per day.

A new well was struck at Leechburgh, Armstrong county, yesterday, which promises to be a good paying well, and opens up a new section of territory in that vicinity.

Alderman Taylor.

Mary Murray appeared before Alderman Taylor yesterday and charged John McGraw with assault and battery. She states that John, forgetful of that care and tenderness which is woman's due from man, set upon and gave her a violent beating. A warrant was issued.

It was alleged in an information made by Thomas R. Herd, Jr., before Alderman Taylor yesterday, that James Kelley had stolen candy of the value of $3 from the store of J. McClurg & Co. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Dina Dierker made oath yesterday charging James Cavanaugh with having, during her absence, removed a trunk which had been left as security for the payment of board furnished to him and his family by the prosecutrix. A warrant was granted for the arrest of James by Alderman Taylor.

Jesse Yarnall yesterday sued out a warrant before Alderman Taylor for the arrest of W. H. Stroup, George B. Brice, John Reschenberger and William Johnston, whom he charges with refusing to give up possession of the house owned by the Pennsylvania R. R. Co. in the rear of the old "Mansion House." Warrants issued.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, }
164 Fourth avenue, Mar. 11, 1871. }

As our city is liable a visitation of that terrible disease, small pox, (it being now very prevalent in some of the Eastern cities), we would urge upon our citizens the importance of immediate vaccination. The Physician of the Board of Health will be in attendance at the office of the Board, No. 164 Fourth avenue, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, from 2 to 3 P. M. for the purpose of gratuitous vaccination, and all persons are urged to avail themselves ofthe opportunity.

By order of the Board of Health,
eod:lm. CROSBY GRAY, Health Officer.

Messrs. B. C. & J. H. Sawyer.

For the past twelve months I have used almost exclusively, your "Barbers' Soap," and I cheerfully bear my witness to its superiority. It is far more pleasant than the highly scented French soaps, or the imitations that are so commonly used, and is much more durable and economical, either for shaving or for use in the bath. I am certain it only needs a fair trial to commend it to very general favor; besides being a home manufacture, it is a superior article that justly merits commendation. JOHN SCARBOROUGH, Rector of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh.

Spring Precautions.

With the great advantages and conveniences of a residence in a city, there are disadvantages and drawbacks. Some of these it is entirely within the power of the residents to abate and remove. City ordinances and corporate action are wisely directed to the promotion of precautions against disease. But there many things which no city can reach, and for these the several residents are alone responsible. The spirit of a free people properly rebels against sumptuary laws, and against domiciliary visitations and searches. Only when the alarm of pestilence is raised are the objections to the search of private premises waived or removed. Then the mischief is not unfrequently done, and the penalty of carelessness is incurred in the disturbance of the public health, and the evidence is seen in the bills of mortality.

Frost is a disinfectant, and carelessness may be permitted in the winter season with apparent impunity, though even then our over-heated apartments keep up the fruitful causes of ill-health. But when spring opens upon us the danger is increased ten-fold. From cellars exhalations rise from decaying vegetable matter. An unpleasant odor is not a thing simply disagreeable, but absolutely deleterious. If people would but heed that easily disturbed monitor, the sense of smell, they would remove unpleasant causes, not only for comfort, but for the sake of health. People become too easily indifferent to anything which is tolerable—and endure what they should remove. Cellars at this season should be opened and ventilated, and all vegetable matter which indicates its presence by a perceptible odor, and all that is not of positive use and value should be removed from the premises. Any surplusage should be given away or sent where it can at once be consumed. Air and perfect cleanliness should be introduced into all the "close" places and whitewash should be freely applied.

Outside of the house, in yards, courts and alleys, the winter accumulation of decaying matter should be gathered up and carted off. The city scavengers are supposed to attend to this matter, but they do not open gates, and, unless they are looked up and aided, are not too particular as to streets and courts. Householders should see that the public scavengers do their duty; and should moreover take especial care of their own premises. The refuse sweepings, useful on the farmer's land, are by the very properties which make them beneficial there, prejudicial everywhere else.

The spring overhauling and purification of our houses and premises is a personal advantage as well as a public benefit. While the duty is more or less carefully performed by tidy and well-to-do citizens, there are crowded courts and corners where the deposits of mid-winter would reek till mid-summer if the municipal authorities did not intefere. It is highly desirable that those whose concern it is should take this matter at once in hand. Public spirited citizens should remind them of their duty. The public service implies the obligation of performance, and those who have undertaken a duty should be held to attend to it. An early movement in this direction may prevent evil consequences by and by, and remove unpleasant sensations even now. There are many persons who talk of "spring languor" and buy spring medicines. They might do better by consulting the song book, and "Buy a Broom!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pensions.

The Washington Republican says: Some complaints are now coming into the pension office on account of the dropping from the rolls of the office of certain pensioners in the south. These pensioners were placed on the rolls in accordance with the various acts of Congress, and at the close of the war when not obnoxious in the terms of the law which forbade the payment of pensions to persons who were "in sympathy with rebellion," the payment was continued to them. But the officers charged with examining the archives of the rebel government, found therein a memorial in the Confederate Congress, signed by a number of persons who had previous to the war, drawn pensions from the United States government. These memorialists set forth in their memorial that they were entitled to pensions under what they were then pleased to designate the "so called United States Government," but that they had abandoned all claim on such Government, and asked pensions at the hands of the rebel authorities. They professed unflinching loyalty to the "Confederate States." This document was at once transmitted to the Commissioner of Pensions, and the names of all the signers forthwith dropped from the rolls, as this document furnished indubitable proof of their "sympathy with rebellion."

Miss Chalmers.

In one of the alleys running off from Fountain Bridge, Edinburgh, a street crowded with drunkenness and pollution, is the low-roofed building in which the daughter of Dr. Chalmers is spending her life to help unfortunate drunkards out of their miseries. Her chief work is with drunkards, their wives and daughters. Some poor women of the place who have sober husbands complain against her, saying, "Why do you pass us? Because our husbands are good, you do not care for us. If we had married some worthless sot, you would then have taken care of us in our poverty!" In the winter when the nights are long and cold, you may see Helen Chalmers, with her lantern, going through the lanes of the city, hunting up the depraved and bringing them out to her reform meetings. Insult her, do they? Never: They would as soon think of pelting an angel of God. Fearless and strong in the righteousness of her work, she goes up to a group of intoxicated men, shakes hands with them, and takes them along to hear the Thursday night speech on temperance.

Horrible.

To-day, at about 11 o'clock, smoke was noticed by the neighbors issuing from the barn and house belonging to Moses Terwilliger, residing near Brunswick, in the town of Shawangunk, Ulster county, New York. On repairing to the spot they were met by the owner, who refused, until knocked down and tied, to allow anyone to enter the dwelling. After he was secured the fire inside the house was put out. Search was then made for the mother of Terwilliger (who was nearly ninety years of age). She was found dead in the cellar; and the son admitted of throwing her body there after choking her to death. While busy with the dead body, the flames from the barn set fire to the dwelling house, which was soon consumed. On monday, Terwilliger had an examination, and was sent to Kingston jail to await the action of the grand jury. It is reported to us that he has acted strangely for the past eight years, and although owning a farm, he has had no one to work for him during all that time, but lived alone with his aged mother, whom he had frequently threatened to kill.—New-Paltz Times, of April 9.
